CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT IN 1864

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

FALSE ALARM.—We are happy to be able to announce that the report which was brought to the city last Friday, in regard to a party of Navajos being in the neighborhood of Pino's ranch, was entirely without foundation. The report was brought by a Pueblo Indian who, it seems, drew entirely upon his imagination for the story he told. He could show no signs of Indians where he reported them to have been nor did any of those who live in the neighborhood know anything of Indians having been in their vicinity.

Lieut. Wardwell, in command of Gen. Carleton's escort, went out to find the savages but they were not there and he consequently came back Indianless.

We heard of some people who looked thoughtful when the dumb Indian made his report and said they feared it would be true. They thought the Navajos could not be retained on the reservation and this in all probability was only the precursor of a general uprising of the tribe. But hopes and fears were alike blasted. The Navajos stayed at home on the reservation, giving their attention to their own business—an example that might profitably be followed by some of our white brethren.

By train from the States this week we received a new printing press, new type, and ink and a large assortment of paper, including printing, cap, letter and note, which, together with the material we had on hand, will enable us to do all kinds of work in the printing line in the best style of the art.

Our job and book department is furnished with the very best material that can be obtained in the East and our workmen are experienced and skillful in all the branches of printing. We therefore flatter ourselves that we hold out to the public inducements for patronage that are not surpassed in the Territory.

To business and professional men we would say that we have a large quantity of cards, which we will print to order and at reasonable rates.

There are being brought from Fort Canby twelve hundred more Navajo Indians who go to the Bosque Redondo to join the balance of the tribe who have gone thither at different periods during the year. Thus it goes, and thus it will go until the last remnant of the murderous tribe will leave its mountain home to dwell in peace on the banks of the Pecos, no more to rob, destroy and murder.

Dr. McNulty, accompanied by his lady and Mrs. Capt. Bell, started for Franklin Texas on Wednesday last.

On Thursday last Messrs Spiegelberg Bros. received a large supply of goods from the States by the train in charge of Mr. Steadman.

There are reports of the discovery of rich placers of gold in the vicinity of Fort Stanton.

Read the advertisement of Messrs. Peres & Co. There has been a change in the firm.

Lieut. Wardwell and lady have gone to Fort Union.

Lieut. Thomassen of Los Pinos was in the city this week.

Lieut. Col. Davis, Department Inspector, was in the city last week.

Rev. Wm. J. Kermott, of the Baptist Home Missionary society, will preach at the Hall of the House of Representatives on Sunday at half past ten o'clock. The public are requested to attend.

Before Congress adjourned on the 4th inst. a bill was passed making an appropriation of $100,000 for the benefit of the Navajos on the reservation at the Bosque Redondo.

Read the advertisement headed 'lost.'—The Pennsylvania Reserves went into the field 15,000 strong in 1861; they return home, 1,500 in 1864.

From Washington City.

From a lengthy communication which we received from Washington City under date of June 21st we make the following extracts, regretting that our space will not admit the entire letter:

To New Mexico has been assigned the double task of fighting a domestic enemy and repelling an invading foe. Honorably and gloriously has she done her duty. All honor to your able military commander and the brave officers and soldiers under him, for the patriotic and gallant manner in which they have made the invader fly and the savage bow. The conquest of the Navajo tribe is a bright laurel on the brow of the army of New Mexico. The government here will follow up the achievement by making an appropriation for the humane system of humanizing and christianizing the conquered captive nation. Your talented, indefatigable and popular Delegate, Hon. Francisco Peres, is vigorously urging that subject upon the attention of Congress. He has succeeded in getting an appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars, for that purpose, through the Senate, and the committee on Indian Affairs of the House of Representatives have unanimously agreed upon reporting in favor of the Senate bill. By the time that this shall have reached you, the appropriation will, in all probability, have been consummated. Your patriotic fellow citizen, Col. Collins, is taking a deep interest in the matter.

Several important measures of interest to your Territory have been introduced in Congress by your faithful Delegate. The most important, perhaps, is for a branch railroad to tap the Pacific road at some point between the Missouri river and Denver, to run through Santa Fe, thence down the Rio Grande, by Fort Craig to Lobos or La Libertad on the Gulf of California. It is said that the stock in this road will be taken by capitalists in New York as soon as the bill introduced by Col. Peres shall have become a law and the work will immediately be commenced and be prosecuted with vigor. The beginning of such a work will be a day of bright promise to New Mexico and its completion will be a day of jubilee to your grand and beautiful but neglected country. * * * * * Your patriotic Delegate is devoting much attention to the subject. His heart burns with enthusiasm for the deliverance of his native land from the thralldom of usurpation and oppression. In the late national convention of which he was an honored member, he bore aloft the Star Spangled banner, over which streamed a pure white pennant bearing, in large letters, the motto: "New Mexico—the Union and the Monroe Doctrine forever." The flag and its motto attracted great attention and elicited loud applause. The hearts of the people of the United States are burning with that sentiment, and so soon as our civil war is ended, our armies will rush to Mexico to drive out the usurper and set the republic free.

Among other measures introduced into Congress by Col. Peres is one to restore the Conchos to the Territory of New Mexico. * * * * * Every consideration of justice and humanity demands a prompt restoration, to New Mexico, of that unjustly dismembered portion of her territory. The Delegate from Colorado will not agree to relinquish it, but holds to it with the most earnest tenacity. It should never have been done and Col. Peres is doing everything in his power to retrieve the lost Concho.

An act recently passed the House of Representatives authorizing the payment of the militia called out in the respective States and Territories, during the war. It was through the vigilance and energy of Col. Peres that the Territories were included, as the bill originally contemplated the payment only of the militia of the States. The act will doubtless pass the Senate and become a law, and the militia of New Mexico will thereby be remunerated for services gallantly and patriotically rendered the country.

Several assaults of a malignant nature have been made on Brig. Gen. Carleton through the public press and the War Department. Col. Peres has, with great promptitude and zeal met and repelled them all. He has been tireless and indomitable in defense of that officer. And this he has done from a sense of duty to a gallant and faithful officer, whom he deemed worthy of praise instead of censure and denunciation. Hon. Wm. Conness, one of the Senators from California, has recently called, by resolution of the Senate, on the War Department for information touching the course of Gen. Carleton towards Mr. Sylvester Mowry. What his aim is, has not yet been disclosed, but his purpose is presumed to be unfriendly. Col. Peres will watch the case closely and spare no pains to have Gen. Carleton fully vindicated, and in all his efforts he will have the sympathy and cordial co-operation of Col. Collins.

You have reason to be satisfied with your Delegate in Congress for the services he is rendering to your Territory. He has been indefatigable in his devotion to the interests of New Mexico, and though young and inexperienced in legislation, he has made a most enviable impression at Washington, both in the Legislative and Executive Department. This session of Congress has been unfavorable to any legislation not immediately connected with the unhappy condition of the country, but all of the measures introduced by Col. Peres are pending under favorable auspices, and such as may not be consummated this session will be continued as unfinished business, until the next session when, it is to be hoped, peace and not war will be the subject of legislation. Col. Peres has by his intelligence, his dignified and courteous manners, his diligent attention to the business of his constituents, and his earnest patriotism, commanded the admiration and respect of all who know him in the executive branch of the government and in the halls of Congress. His course here, so far, has been an auspicious inauguration of a public career which will, doubtless, be of great usefulness to New Mexico and honor to himself.

The friends of Judge Brochus regret very much that circumstances of a domestic nature have kept him so long from his judicial district. The protracted illness and death of his wife, was closely followed by the precarious state of the health of his daughter, and those afflictive circumstances have been the cause of his detention from his post of official duty. No one is more sensible than Judge Brochus of the generous and indulgent nature of the members of the Bar and the people of New Mexico and he feels assured that they will not visit a severe judgment on him for his long, yet reluctant, absence from the Territory. It is his purpose to be in Santa Fe in time to assist in disposing of the business of the approaching term of the Supreme Court.

The mineral wealth of New Mexico is attracting the attention of capitalists in the States. The New Mexican Mining Company are making preparation to work their mines with vigor, and the fruits of their energy will, no doubt invite to your Territory large acquisitions of capital, enterprise and population. The conquest and subjugation of the daring tribe of the Navajo Nation and the prospect of their being induced to subsist by industry and live in amity with the whites, is a cheering sign for the future of New Mexico. It gives promise of your pastoral and agricultural progress. The plains and valleys which were, for ages, the haunts of the dreaded savage, will now be the luxuriant pastures of your countless herds. The virgin lands, long undisturbed in the majestic stillness of your sublime altitudes, will now yield up their teeming fruits to the hand of industry. Your mountains that have towered to the heavens from primeval time, in the sullen majesty of their hidden wealth, will now enshrine their treasures to the magic call of civilization, and your neglected country will rise, from the shades of an unrequited wilderness, into the light of a brilliant and commanding development. May peace and prosperity reign throughout your borders; may brightness gild the future of New Mexico, and let people long enjoy the blessings that flow from free institutions and our glorious Union.

A FRIEND OF THE COUNTRY.

BALTIMORE, July 10, 9 p. m.—The excitement is intense this evening. Wallace continues to fall back towards the city. Parties with drum and life are constantly moving through the city to man the breast works. The rebel scouts have been sent within 15 miles of the city. At last accounts Gen. Wallace was within 24 miles of the city, falling back with a force of fresh troops guarding his rear. His artillery is reported having been destroyed.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—An official dispatch from General Wallace, states that the rebels are between Washington and Tinseltown, 40,000 strong, under Breckinridge. It is reported that his forces had an engagement with the enemy, commencing at 9 o'clock, and continued until five. Our forces were at length overpowered by superior numbers and forced to retreat in disorder. He says, Brig. Gen. Taylor, was taken prisoner, and the enemy's force were at least 20,000. Our troops behaved well but suffered a severe loss. He is retreating towards Baltimore. [Signed] STANTON.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The Navy Department has received the following from the U. S. steamer Kearsage, dated June 19th:

I have the honor to inform the Dept. that the day subsequent to the arrival of the Kearsage off Chasabourg, the 14th, I received a note from Captain Semmes, begging that the Kearsage would not depart—that he intended to fight her and would not delay her but a day or two after this notice. The Alabama left Port Chasabourg at half past nine. Fearing the question of jurisdiction might arise, we steamed out to sea, until the distance of six or seven miles was obtained from Chasabourg break water, when we rounded to and commenced steaming for the Alabama. As we approached within 1,200 yards, she opened fire. We received two or three broadsides before a shot was returned. The action continued, the respective steamers making a circle round and round, at the distance of about four hundred yards from each other. At the expiration of about an hour, the Alabama struck, going down twenty minutes afterwards, carrying many persons with her.

Signed,

Capt JOHN A. WINSLOW.

Commander Winslow claims Capt Semmes and others, taken to South Hampton, as his prisoners. He had ample means to pick them up, but an English yacht actually stole them, thus constituting a clear case of intervention.

HALIFAX, July 6.—Additional by the Asia:—

A letter in the Paris Patrie states that Capt Semmes announced that on the 15th of August he will again sail in a vessel which will be completed at that date.

Rumor points to the steamer Rappahannock; the ex-British war vessel which was stolen away from Sherborn to Calais. A committee headed by Admiral Anson were formed in London.

—A New Orleans paper says that while the white population in that city enjoy good health, an unusual mortality prevails among the blacks, attributable to their changed social condition.

—Sometimes the address which generally prevails among the wounded and dying is banished by a ludicrous incident. An Irishman who had been fatally wounded at Coal Harbor, was advised by the surgeon to give his effects to a person near by. He pulled out his razor and asked comically: "If he should send that home to the old woman?" "Yes," said the delegate. Next came out his glasses, and then $17.65, of which one dollar was silver. All these things he wanted sent. But when the delegate went to take them, he asked him to "wait a bit. These doctors are not always right. Yes, had better be after seeing whether I'm going to die or not."

—Petersburg is a city of some eighteen thousand inhabitants, located on the Appomattox, twelve miles above its entrance into the James River, and twenty-three miles south by east of Richmond. It is one of the handsomest and most commercial places in the State, and before the war, exported largely tobacco and flour. The river from City Point is navigable for vessels of one hundred tons, so that supplies from Washington can be forwarded direct to the place.

SLIDING SCALE OF GRIEF.—Punch has a picture of a worthy gentleman calling upon an "expert" hatter. This dialogue gives the point of "illustration."

Customer—"A slight mourning hat-band, if you please."
Hatter—"What relation, Sir?"
Customer—"Wife's uncle, Sir."
Hatter—"Favorite uncle, Sir?"
Customer—"Um—well, yes."
Hatter—"May I ask, Sir, are you mentioned in the will?"
Customer—"No such luck."
Hatter (to his assistant, briskly)—"Couple o' inches, John!"

The graduating class at West Point this year entered with ninety-six members and graduated with twenty-seven, the result of rigid "weeding out." The cadet appointed by Gen. Sickles from the New York public schools stands first.

—The statement is made that the Right Rev. Dr. McCloskey, Bishop of Albany, has received official documents from Rome appointing him to the Archbishopric of New York, vacant by the death of the late distinguished prelate, Dr. Hughes.
